

REMARKS

The present application includes pending claims 16, 17, and 21-28. By this Amendment, claims 29 and 30 have been added. The Applicants respectfully submit that the claims of the present application define patentable subject matter.

The Examiner's Reasons for Allowance and claims 28-30 do not recite a "money intake device," as recited in pending independent claims 16, 22, and 27 of the present application. Thus, the Applicants respectfully submit that claims 28-30, in particular, are applicable to a computer jukebox in any suitable environment, whether it be a restaurant, bar, private residence, dance hall, or the like. Overall, the Applicants do not intend to limit their invention to any particular environment or location. That is, the Applicants' inventions as set forth in the pending claims of the present application relate to computer jukeboxes that may be used within public and private settings, such as bars and private residences.

New claims 29 and 30 have been added in conformance with the Examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. In particular, the Examiner stated the following:

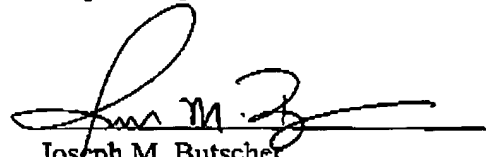

The prior art, specifically Castille ('502) in view of Cohen ('187) further in view of Verdun ('802) or Tashiro ('836) do not disclose or fairly teach:

a computer jukebox causing the processor, when no song is playing on the computer jukebox to generate a user attract mode wherein digitally-stored song associated graphic images are shown on the display.

See 12/27/2004 Notice of Allowability at page 3. The Applicants respectfully submit that new claims 28 and 29 conform to the above statement of reasons for allowance.

If the Examiner has any questions or the Applicants can be of any assistance, the Examiner is invited to contact the applicants. The Commissioner is authorized to charge $595 (the RCE fee of $395 + $200 to cover the fee for the two new independent claims (2 new claims X $100 per claim for a small entity = $200)) and any other necessary fees or credit any overpayment to the Deposit Account of McAndrews, Held & Malloy, Account No. 13-0017.

Respectfully submitted,
